To promote natural and cultural awareness and the historical heritage of the school's nearest environment.

Culture

The mobility activities allowed students to compare the areas in which their schools are located. They shared and taught each other the historical and cultural heritage that characterize the areas where they live.

Objective 2

Erasmus+ projects promote learning and appreciation of the natural environment.

Culture

The mobility activities gave students the possibility to compare the areas in which their schools are located with those visited in other mobility countries.

It also gave insights to unique natural heritage.

Students became aware of the importance of sustainability in the preservation and safeguard of local heritage.

An increase of students' awareness about environmental issues empowered them to turn into citizens who care and are aware of their impact on the environment.

Objective 3

To foster English as a useful tool to communicate outside the school environment, offering students the possibility to learn English in real-life situations with people around Europe and the world.

Culture

The students improved their English communicative skills by using them to learn in all fields. Students learned from each other about their cultural and environmental heritage.

The project encouraged students to think that English is an indispensable tool for their future life.

The project aims at making youngsters think they must learn English because it is useful, not compulsory.

Such consideration makes students more motivated and stimulates their creativity and critical thinking.

Game-oriented activities activated motivation and pleasure for learning and enabled students to learn in authentic contexts.

Such activities also implied collaboration, learning by doing and problem solving, which improve "thinking" and interacting in a foreign language.

Escaping Wonderland

You were reading Alice in Wonderland at school when suddenly lights went out. When lights came back, you realized that you weren't at school anymore... That place looked a lot like... Wonderland!! You saw your classmates and your teacher and you asked what had happened. The teacher, terrified, told you:

"We are suffering Lewis Carroll's curse! The legend says that every 25 years, Carroll traps the readers of Alice in Wonderland in the book! Lewis Carroll was a mathematician who loved numbers and logical problems, so in order to get out of Wonderland, we need to solve some logical riddles and get a numerical code."

In every test you solve, you will get a number. Write the 6 numbers in the clue sheet to help you unlock the box to break the curse and get out of this disturbing place!

Oh dear! Oh dear! Don't be late or you will be trapped in Wonderland FOREVER!

Do you think it's important for students to meet friends around Europe? Why?

Have you tried to get into contact with other schools and have students share lessons and projects?

Could such moments be effective for our students'
education and learning?

What about getting into contact with a class from a European school and work on e-project, such as a magazine?

Objective 4

To raise awareness of a European identity and to foster the feeling of belonging to Europe.

A development of the feeling of belonging to the same community and promotion of a European dimension.

By working with an international dimension, students got to know what belonging to Europe meant.

Students agreed the project encouraged them to think that Europe is a commonplace with plenty of opportunities. It also allowed them to feel connected and tolerant towards other cultures, lifestyles, and social practices.

Objective 5

To integrate ICT use in the learning/teaching process, promoting cross-curricular work and teamwork.

The use of ICT tools raised students' autonomy, entrepreneurship, and self-esteem. It has also showed new ways of learning and increased the use of different kinds of intelligences and capacities to accomplish tasks, research and teamwork.

Teacher reflection

How can we integrate of ICT techniques and devices into our lesson activities to improve learning?

What do you think?

Effective tech integration changes classroom dynamics, encouraging student-centred project-based learning and has students take control of their learning.

Objective 6

To exchange our teaching methods to teach EFL to improve and modernize our professional development as teachers.

Mobility activities allowed teachers to exchange ideas and resources and experiment with new teaching methodologies.

The project also allowed teachers to improve their English communication and project skills.

Erasmus+

IISS LERCARA FRIDDI

Bridging European Communities 4 Learning

Teacher reflection:

All the mobility activities allowed teachers to talk about their teaching ideas, methodologies and programs, and find ways to improve their teaching competences in a European perspective.
